Instructions for Party A and Party B

This guide is for dispute participants — Party A and Party B. The interface and steps are the same. The header shows your role (Party A or Party B), often with your case title (for example Party A · Claimant). In Mode A, Party A usually replies first.

> Tip. Help opens this instruction. The chat assistant in the corner answers from this text in EN | UA. PDF and DOCX downloads are available from the Help window. Ask about waits, voting, or Mode A/B.

If you are a mediator or an administrator, open mediator.md or admin.md.

1. What you can and cannot do

As a party to the dispute you:

- sign in with a login and password or a Magic Link;

- choose a case under My rooms if you belong to more than one room;
- complete welcome, consent, four psychological tests, and wait for Personal AI Bot;
- describe the dispute in your own words;
- wait until the other party is ready (and the mediator — in Mode B);
- take part in the session: answer questions, vote, accept or reject a compromise, confirm the agreement;
- download the Mediation results PDF;
- switch language with EN | UA and log out.

> You do not create a room, set the session time, or manage the other party. That is done by the administrator (Mode A) or the mediator (Mode B).

2. Signing in and Magic Link

The room organizer sends you an account: a login, a password, or a Magic Link.

Sign in with login and password

1. Open the PsyLex login page (Login on the home page).
2. Enter Login (it starts with psylex_) and Password.
3. If needed, click Show password.
4. Click Sign in.

If the details are wrong: Invalid credentials or Invalid login format.

Sign in with a Magic Link

1. Open the link from the email or message.
2. A confirmation page appears; in a normal browser, sign-in completes automatically (loading indicator). If JavaScript is disabled, click Continue.
3. The system takes you to the next unfinished step.

> The link is one-time and valid for 72 hours. If it has expired or already been used, you will see that the magic link is invalid or expired. Ask for a new link or sign in with login and password.

A Magic Link can be generated by an administrator or by a mediator (for parties in their rooms).

3. My rooms

If you take part in more than one room, after sign-in you see My rooms. Choose which case to continue. My rooms is also available from the header.

Row statuses:

Status	Meaning
Completed	Mediation finished
In session	Live session in progress
Scheduled	A schedule exists (Mode B)
Preparing	Onboarding / analysis
Needs dispute intake	Dispute description not submitted yet

Each row shows your role (Party A / Party B) and status.

4. Header, stages, and toasters

On the left (or in the step navigation) you see six steps:

1. Landing
2. Disclaimer
3. Test results
4. Dispute description
5. Mediation
6. Treaty

You can move forward only after the current step is complete. Finished steps open in review mode.

The header shows:

- the PsyLex name;
- My rooms;
- your role badge: Party A or Party B, often with your title (for example Party A · Claimant);
- Help, EN | UA, Logout;
- the banner: Legal information, not legal advice.

On the room page, the heading shows your role (and title) with the room title underneath.

Status toasters

Waits and actions appear as toasters (top-left), not as long banners in the page body:

- Amber — wait (AI working, other party answering, waiting for the mediator to publish);
- Green — your turn to act.

Separately, the countdown Session time remaining is shown. You usually do not need to refresh — the room updates on its own. Full catalog: section 14.

5. Welcome and consent

Welcome

Screen: Welcome to the application. Responses are strictly confidential. Click Start Assessment.

Consent

Screen: Disclaimer & Consent Important Information (three points: not legal advice / not therapy; voluntary; confidential).

Check: I have read and agree to the terms of participation. Click Proceed to Next Step (while checking: Checking test completion…). Footer: Secure & Confidential Environment.

6. Psychological tests and AI bot

Screen: Psychological Assessment. Complete four modules (each opens in a new tab):

Module	Purpose
What is my personality type	Core assessment
Face to face with fear	Emotional resilience
Character traits	In-depth analysis
Personality conflicts	Conflict dynamics

How to complete the tests

1. Click Open test on the card.
2. Finish the questionnaire on the external page.
3. Return to PsyLex and click Update test status.

4. Status changes from Not passed to Passed (or Pending completion).

> Processing after you submit a test can take up to two hours. Wait and click Update test status again.

Personal AI Bot

The Personal AI Bot card:

- until all tests are passed — available after tests (badge stays Pending);
- Pending — profile processing (up to two hours);
- Ready — you can continue.

Buttons: Update bot status, then Next Step.

If a mediator or admin requested a profile update, you will see a banner asking you to retake the tests.

---

7. Describe your dispute

Screen: Describe your dispute. The other party does not see your answers directly; AI uses them to prepare the session.

1. Please describe the dispute in your own words.
2. What is most important to you in this dispute?
3. What outcome would you consider acceptable?

Submit answers / Submitting.... While saving, you may see the toast Saving your answers....

Then you enter the Mediation readiness lobby. AI analysis starts when both parties have submitted intake and their bots are ready (intake analysis toast, about 5–10 minutes).

8. Lobby before mediation

Mode A — self-guided mediation with AI

You see Your status and Opposite side: Ready for mediation / Not ready for mediation.

Start Mediation becomes available when both parties are ready, AI analysis is complete, and opening messages are prepared. Long waits appear as toasters (see section 14), not as long body banners.

The session starts only when both parties have clicked Start Mediation.

Mode B — session with a mediator

Until a schedule exists: toast Waiting for the mediator to schedule the session.

When the schedule is saved — Scheduled session and a countdown. Start Mediation opens 10 minutes before the scheduled time (Start becomes available in…).

The session starts when:

1. Party A, Party B, and the mediator have clicked Start Mediation;
2. the scheduled time has arrived or the mediator clicks Start now (after all three have already clicked start).

The screen shows click status for all three participants. If everyone is ready before the clock: everyone is ready; the session starts at the scheduled time, or the mediator can start now.

9. Mode A session (self-guided with AI)

Room: Mediation room. Phase at the top:

Phase	What happens
Opening	AI greets the parties
Dialogue	Up to three rounds; parties reply in turn
Generating options	AI prepares solution options
Voting	Blind choice of an option
Second vote	Compromise if choices differ
Agreement	Draft agreement
Completed	Results and download

Timer

Session time remaining is a 120-minute countdown. When time runs out, the session ends according to product rules (moves to options if dialogue was still in progress).

Dialogue

- Party A usually replies first in each round.
- Your turn: Your turn to reply. Reply time timer — 15 minutes.
- Other party's turn: Other party is answering.
- Field Type your substantive reply… → Send reply (Enter also sends).

- Help me phrase this / Rewriting… clarifies your draft without changing its meaning.

If a reply sounds like a personal attack: Please focus on the substance of the dispute.

Moving to options early

I am ready for solution options. The move happens when both parties click. Otherwise dialogue continues for up to three rounds or until the timer ends.

10. Mode B session (with a mediator)

The mediator leads the session. AI assists them; a person decides what to send to the parties.

Differences from Mode A:

- the party timer is also a countdown Session time remaining for the duration the mediator set (30–240 minutes);
- the mediator sends questions — to you or to the other party;
- you reply when the reply field is available (not necessarily strictly in turn);
- there is no I am ready for solution options — the mediator publishes options;
- compromise and agreement appear only after the mediator publishes them;
- after both parties accept the agreement, you may see a toast asking you to wait until the mediator completes the session.

Message at the start: Mediator-facilitated session started. The mediator will guide the dialogue.

11. Voting, compromise, and agreement

Solution options

Solution options block. Each option may include: a description for you, Legal information (not advice), Fulfillment likelihood, Risks if refused.

Select this option → Your vote has been recorded. Waiting for the other party. Voting is secret until both have voted.

- Same choice → move to agreement (Mode B: after mediator publish).
- Different choices → Second vote (compromise; Mode B: after publish).

Compromise

You see which option the other party chose and a compromise proposal.

- Accept compromise
- Reject compromise

After you vote — a wait toast for the other party. If both accept — wait for the agreement draft. If at least one rejects — Mode A may end without agreement; Mode B may continue with the mediator.

Draft agreement

Screen: Draft agreement — text, terms, legal disclaimer. In Mode B the draft appears only after Publish to parties.

I accept □ Waiting for the other party to accept. When both have accepted: Session completed (Mode B may still wait for the mediator to complete).

Acceptance on the platform records the parties' voluntary choice. For legal force, consult a licensed attorney — this is stated in the disclaimer.

12. Downloading results

Download results. The Mediation results PDF includes:

1. Legislation (legal information and sources);
2. Solution (or a note that no agreement was reached);
3. Agreement / Terms.

It does not include a psychodynamic profile chapter. The email field is a stub: Email delivery is coming soon. Use download for now.

13. Language, translation, and reviewing steps

- EN | UA changes the interface language. Your answers are stored as you wrote them.
- Others' messages may show Translated; use Show original / Hide original.
- Help me phrase this / Rewriting...; on failure: Could not rewrite. Try again.
- Options, agreement, and PDF follow your interface language.
- Logout ends the session; the next sign-in returns you to the unfinished step.
- In review of finished steps: Next and Back to current step (editing is disabled).

15. Tips and typical situations

I cannot sign in. The login must start with psylex_. A Magic Link is one-time and valid 72 hours — ask the organizer for a new one.

I completed the test, but status is "Not passed". Click Update test status. Processing can take up to two hours.

"Start Mediation" is inactive (Mode A). The other party is not ready yet, or AI is still analyzing / preparing the opening — check the toasters.

The button is inactive (Mode B). No schedule yet, more than 10 minutes until start, or one of the three participants has not clicked start.

The other party is slow to reply (Mode A). Wait for their turn or the 15-minute reply timer. Do not close the tab during your turn.

The session ended without an agreement. Normal if the compromise was rejected or time ran out. You can still download the PDF.

Can the other party see my tests and dispute description? No. The room shows only dialogue, options, and the agreement. Profiles are used by AI (and by the mediator in Mode B).

What should I do after the agreement? Download the PDF and, if needed, consult an attorney.

I was added to another room with the same login. Organizers can reuse your account (Add existing participant). Your tests and personal bot may already be ready; you still need to submit the dispute description for that new room, then continue lobby and mediation as usual.
